

INTEGRATED POLICY

EGS provide high quality measurement services based on efficient and cost effective geophysical, hydrographic, oceanographic and other maritime survey services. The company's goal is to provide surveys to the highest standards while meeting legal requirements and compliance obligations of ISO's 9001, 14001 and 45001. Whilst EGS recognise the nature, scale and impacts of our activities, we are dedicated to implementing, maintaining and continually improving our operational performance.

EGS Directors recognise that employees are vital to maintaining the hard-won reputation of the company and that duty of care encompassing all workplace activities are maintained at all times.

To achieve this goal, EGS is committed to:

- Meeting our responsibilities by providing adequate protection, information, instruction and training to eliminate hazards and reduce risks
- Providing a framework for setting objectives aligned with Business Strategy to continually improve the Integrated Management System
- Fulfilling legal requirements, compliance obligations and other responsibilities
- Consultation and participation of EGS personnel to formulate effective decisions and continually improve operational output
- Protecting the Environment, including prevention of pollution
- Providing necessary resources to ensure Client requirements are fulfilled
- Communicating relevant information within EGS and to other parties
- Undertaking inspections, audits and monitoring activities to satisfy applicable requirements and verify that standards are maintained.
- Providing customer satisfaction by meeting Client expectations and requirements, by responding and resolving any issues with diligence.

Where possible, EGS shall go beyond compliance, endeavouring to use best practical standards in the absence of legal and obligation requirements.

The promotion and implementation of this policy has been made by the Directors and is communicated and made available to all EGS personnel and other Interested Parties
